Homecoming Parade Success

- great parent turn out to help decorate the trailers, great effort by all
- many compliments noted, especially for the dragon on Eickenhorst's float
- lessons learned—only give boys half the candy at the beginning of the parade or have drivers hold on to candy until parade begins. (boys did not have candy by the end of the parade). Also, have the boys throw only a piece at a time and throw farther from the floats so that children are not coming so close to floats to collect candy
